Make $30 a page (around 700 words per page) writing reviews, critiques & a small tales article about small towns throughout your region for a new companion magazine for an independently produced PBS, interstitial TV episodes.

We are a small, regional media production company looking to build a small team of videographer/editors & writers we can rely upon for these segments for the foreseeable future and grow with us and are not directly affiliated with PBS or contracted for work with PBS in any way.

Each page should only take a few hours at most.
